PROJECTS

AI-Based Exam Hall Cheating Detection — Currently Developing

- Developing an AI-based system to identify potential cheating or suspicious activity during examinations.
- Exploring computer vision and machine learning techniques for detecting unusual student behavior.
- Applying AI/ML concepts and Python development to a practical real-world problem.
- Continuously testing, improving, and learning from the model during development.

Athlete-Centric Calorie & Physique Tracker

- Built a fitness tracking application for managing workouts, calorie intake, macros, and progressive overload.
- Used Python and web technologies to develop and improve the application.
- Focused on creating a practical and easy-to-use tool for tracking fitness progress.

Internship Tracker

GitHub: github.com/PhranavManjunaath/trackertool

- Built a tool to organize internship applications and track application status and deadlines.
- Designed the project to make internship searching and application management easier.
- Used the project as a practical way to improve development and problem-solving skills.

LEADERSHIP

President – Road Aura (Road Safety Club)
